

Profile

NIBanc (National Investment Bank (N.A.) N.V.), a privately-owned investment bank based in Curaçao, the Netherlands Antilles, is dedicated to infrastructural development throughout the Caribbean basin and Central America.

NIBanc began operations on March 30, 1990, as a part of the Dutch investment bank NIB Capital. During its eighteen year history, NIBanc has been the Lead in arranging more than fifty transactions with a total value exceeding USD 1.4 billion. These transactions range from large syndicated loans and project financing to direct equity investment, and cover diverse industry groups such as:

Airlines	Port facilities construction & operations
Financial services	Power generation & distribution
Infrastructure	Shipping
Hotels & hospitality	Telecommunications
Mining	Water distillation & distribution
Oil & gas

In November 2006, NIBanc was purchased by Parman International, a US private equity firm with holdings in financial services, petroleum-related, and resort industries. As a result of this purchase, NIBanc now enjoys an association with the two other Parman-owned financial service companies; Banco di Caribe, the oldest and largest independent commercial bank in the Netherlands Antilles, and ENNIA, a leading Caribbean insurance company.

NIBanc's management team has more than 100 years of combined financial advisory and execution experience gained from working in over thirty countries throughout the Caribbean, North America, Europe, Asia and the Middle East.

Going forward, NIBanc's focus is on identifying and creating high-value opportunities in the specific industries critical to the economic development of the island nations and countries it serve.

Financial services	Power generation and distribution
Healthcare	Telecommunications
Hospitality	Trade
Petroleum related	Transportation
